

CSE 122

Create a class named Check. It must have two functions-

1. passobject() which is void type and take one object argument.
2. returnobject() which will return the object. It must take one object argument.
3. create necessary constructors and other functions.

In main function, create two objects and compare between them to find out the minimum one using passobject() and returnobject().